Each time I speak in front of a CTPF group, I like to turn the tables and offer a little pop quiz. I ask the audience to raise their hands if they can answer yes to these questions.…

Question 1. Do you care about your pension? (All hands go up for this one).

Question 2. Can you name your Illinois state legislators? (About 15-20% get this).

Question 3. Does your Illinois state senator or representative know you by name? (1-2 people raise their hands).

Many of our members simply do not understand the important role that Illinois legislators play in the health of our pension fund. We are governed by Illinois law and changes to our fund begin in Springfield. The most important step you can take to protect the pension you currently receive, or the future benefit you deserve, is to make sure that you know your Illinois legislators personally.

This fall our CTPF Board of Trustees developed several programs designed to help educate our members so that they can advocate for our pension fund. These programs are helping CTPF share the message that a lack of funding created the pension crisis, and that guaranteed funding from our employer and contributions from the State of Illinois will restore our fund.

We want to help our members communicate with legislators, and that process starts with knowing your local elected representatives. Our new Legislative Action Center, launched in October at www.ctpf.org, offers a one-stop shop where you can look up legislators, send e-mail, and track current legislation.

October also saw the launch of our Pension Fund Ambassador program. The Ambassador program has already attracted nearly 500 enthusiastic members who have agreed to reach out and communicate with Illinois legislators – and we’re already seeing results. You can find more information about the program on page 4, and we hope you will join the effort.

We followed up October’s efforts with the November release of our new report, The Buck Stays Here, understanding the economic impact of CTPF benefit payments on the State of Illinois and the City of Chicago. Pensions generate more than $1 billion in direct payments to Illinois residents. These payments generate $1.48 billion in economic stimulus and create more than 11,000 jobs – more than Sears Headquarters and the CME Group combined.

We’ve also examined the economic impact that pensions make by district and created a fact sheet for every Illinois senator and representative. It’s one thing to walk into your senator’s office and tell her that your pension matters – it’s another to tell her that CTPF benefit payments create more than 500 jobs in her district. You can find the reports on our education and advocacy page at www.ctpf.org.

Our work this fall has helped to prepare us for the uncertain road we face this winter. I encourage you to face the uncertainty with action. Walk into an office and meet your representative in person. Bring an individual fact sheet and share your story. You can find more information and tools to support your efforts on the education and advocacy page at www.ctpf.org.

The small steps you take now can make a big difference later. We hope you will like us on Facebook, register for e-mail updates, visit the Legislative Action Center at www.ctpf.org, and become an Ambassador.

Changes can happen quickly, and electronic communication is the fastest way to reach our members. Our fund has one director, five lobbyists, and twelve trustees who are working non-stop to make our voices heard – but there are only 18 of us. When our 60,000 members stand up and speak with one voice, we’ll make an impact.

Your pension matters – it’s time to meet your legislators.

CTPF piloted an online voting program during the 2012 Teacher Trustee Election on November 9. This fall, Track E and charter schools were asked to select a voting preference: online or on paper. A total of 67 schools chose to vote online. In schools which selected online voting, Pension Representatives distributed sealed envelopes for all eligible voters instead of traditional ballots. The voter then signed on to a CPS computer, entered the required identifying information, and cast an electronic ballot.

“The pilot was a great success,” remarked Frances Radencic, CTPF election coordinator. “We had excellent feedback from schools which voted online, and as a bonus, we kept the online polls open until 5:00 p.m.”

Radencic continued, “Our online participation rate was slightly higher than our paper ballot participation rate, which tells us that the system is a good one and working for our users. We will continue to expand the opportunity for online voting over the next two years.”

Pension Representatives reported a smooth election process with turnout rates comparable to previous years.

The election is organized by Election Services Corporation and conducted by volunteer Pension Representatives and Canvassing Board Members.

“We want to acknowledge and thank our volunteers for their service in this election, and recognize our Canvassing Board for their assistance,” said Radencic.

Education and Advocacy Update: Special Report

CTPF Trustees have put a special focus on Member Education and Advocacy efforts during the fall. Here’s a review of recent work:

Legislative Action Center Launched

Quick! Who represents you in Springfield? Which legislative district are you in? How can you reach your elected representatives? Find answers to these questions in a simple-to-use format at our new Legislative Action Center at www.ctpf.org. When you visit the CTPF website, click the Education and Advocacy tab and then follow the link to the Legislative Action Center.

When you visit the Legislative Action Center, you can type in your address and look up your elected representatives, send an e-mail to your legislators, and find out more about CTPF legislative efforts. If you register at the Legislative Action Center, you will automatically be enrolled in our new CTPF Pension Fund Ambassador program.

Pension Fund Ambassador Program Debuts

CTPF developed the Pension Fund Ambassador Program to encourage our members to educate lawmakers and decision makers about the Chicago Teachers’ Pension Fund and our legislative priorities. We want legislators to understand the people behind the pensions, and to hear the facts about the fund straight from our members. Nearly 500 CTPF members have signed up as Ambassadors.

Ambassador Actions....

Ambassadors are working to protect pensions. They are sending hundreds of e-mail messages to their local elected officials through the Legislative Action Center’s “Letter of the Week Program,” visiting local offices to meet with legislators in person to share our new report, The Buck Stays Here, legislative fact sheets, and other materials (see page 5), and sharing the message of fair funding with family and colleagues.

CTPF encourages you to sign up to join the program. Register at the Legislative Action Center to automatically be enrolled, or send an e-mail with your contact information to ambassadors@ctpf.org.

Representative Golar Hosts Caucus with CTPF

October 24, 2012, the Illinois Black Caucus gathered at CTPF for a Pension Information and Education (PIE) seminar and spent the day learning about the facts, issues, and challenges facing pension funds.

“CTPF made history today with our legislators,” said Representative Esther Golar who hosted the conference together with CTPF. “This was an excellent learning opportunity for our members.”

“This seminar was the first of its kind, and we were excited to be a part of it,” commented Kevin B. Huber, executive director. “We would like to thank Representative Golar for her organizational efforts and all the legislators who attended.”
Making an Impact—Pension Dollars Create Jobs in Your Community

What kind of economic impact do CTPF pensions make on your community? More than 90% of CTPF retirees live in Illinois, and 50% live in the city of Chicago. Our members live, work, spend, and vote locally—and those dollars generate economic activity and jobs in every community in Illinois. CTPF has developed individual information sheets for each legislator in Illinois. Our legislative fact sheets can tell you the number of CTPF members in your district and the economic impact CTPF benefit payments make in your community. You can download and personalize your districts’ fact sheets and share them with your legislators. Legislators need to understand that pensions provide an economic engine for our economy. You can find a file for every senator and house member on the Education and Advocacy Page at www.ctpf.org.

CTPF Wins $37.5 Million Appeal

October 8, 2012, CTPF won its appeal in a lawsuit that accused the Chicago Board of Education of failing to pay the fund $37.5 million in required employer contributions for fiscal year 2010. The Illinois Appellate Court ruled the board should have contributed $345 million to the fund for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2010. Instead, it contributed $307.4 million.

“It is our Board of Trustees’ responsibility to make sure that our bills are paid fairly. It is also our Trustees’ fiduciary duty to recover every possible dollar owed to the fund, and we believed strongly that the Board of Education should not have held back this money,” said Executive Director Kevin Huber. “We’re glad the appellate court agreed.”

CTPF Settles Lawsuit

November 14, 2012, CTPF signed a settlement agreement with the Chicago Board of Education that ended a seven-year lawsuit alleging the overstatement of pension benefits. CTPF recently notified approximately 3,600 retirees who retired between June 2000 and August 2004 that their pensions may have been overstated, and that this settlement may impact their benefits. CTPF held five information sessions in November and December to educate members affected by the settlement. “We believe that this settlement is in our members’ best interest,” explained Kevin B. Huber, executive director. “We’re relieved that this agreement ends seven years of costly litigation.” The fund is currently auditing accounts of members impacted by the settlement and calculating corrected pensions.

New Titles for Member Services Counselors and Field Service Reps

The Member Services department has announced a change of name for Member Services Counselors and Field Service Representatives. As of December 15, 2012, these employees will be called pension resource specialists.

Job descriptions for these employees have not changed. The new titles more accurately reflect the work done by these employees. The titles will also help differentiate between CTPF Field Service staff and the Chicago Teachers Union Field Representatives, who handle grievances.

“Our staff serves active and retired members in many different ways,” explained Member Services Manager Sheron Banks Fallis. “We connect with members on the phone, in the field, at meetings and seminars, and during individual appointments. We all provide vital information and serve as a resource for our members, and we hope this change helps to clarify our roles.”

If you have questions about your pension, or if you want to schedule a personal benefits consultation with a pension resource specialist, please call 312.641.4464.
