December 3, 2013, the Illinois House and Senate passed SB1 – legislation which includes far reaching cost-cutting measures designed to help stabilize four of the five state pension systems (CTPF is not included in this legislation). The Governor signed PA 98-0599 and the law will now face a legal challenge. Our education and advocacy page at www.ctpf.org has more information about this legislation.

The weeks leading up to the passage of SB1 were filled with sound bites and interviews, attacks, criticism, and praise for and statements against the legislation. Community leaders, legislators, union leaders, and rank-and-file teachers shared their views online, on the air, and in print.

You did not, however, hear from the organizations that might have the most to say about this legislation – the pension funds in the State of Illinois. I want you to understand why.

A pension fund is governed by trustees whose sworn duty is to implement the law.
As of September 30, 2013, the approximate current value of CTPF’s investments was $10.0 billion.

Executive Director’s Letter continued from cover of the State of Illinois. As a fund, we cannot object to or protest a law that will bring additional revenue and stabilize our fund – even if the path is painful to members.

This doesn’t mean that we haven’t been saying anything. For the past three years the General Assembly has been working on “reform,” and during this time CTPF trustees launched a campaign to educate legislators, members, and taxpayers.

We have worked to make sure lawmakers understand that there isn’t a “one-size-fits-all” solution to pension issues. We shared the history of our fund – underscoring the fact that our financial situation is due to a lack of revenue – not overly generous benefits. We stressed the fact that revenue reform must come before benefit reform. We highlighted the positive economic benefits pensions bring our city and state. We have brought representatives and senators into our office in day-long Pension Information and Education (PIE) programs, testified at subject matter hearings, and employed professional lobbyists to help us share our message.

We created the Pension Fund Ambassador Program in 2012, to help educate our members and their legislators. We developed new publications, webinars, and training opportunities so our members can effectively share their stories with legislators. We launched an online legislative action center, created a dedicated advocacy web page, and increased our outreach via e-mail and social media.

We’ve reached out to the taxpayers of Chicago and Illinois by proactively engaging local and national media. CTPF President Rehak and I have conducted dozens of interviews with reporters, appeared on television and radio, and have been quoted in local and national publications. We’ve shared the message that we are a well-managed fund that lacks guaranteed funding.

We have not been silent. We have advocated and educated, and spoke clearly about our fund and the challenges we face.

Now it’s your turn.

We know that our members are upset about the possible changes to benefits that will be proposed. Now is the time to share your thoughts and ideas with your local legislators. During winter break, visit your legislators in person. Make sure they know your name and understand your story. Use the resources we have available.

We don’t know what kind of “reform” our fund will face, but the actions you take now can help reinforce our message that we need funding reform before benefit reform. Our strong investment returns will not keep our fund solvent – we need guaranteed revenue.

The call or visit you make today can make an impact on the pension you have tomorrow. If not you, who? If not now, when?
Don’t Hesitate: Designate

It is important that members designate a beneficiary to ensure that any available death benefit is paid according to their wishes. “Often times our members neglect to file a Designation with CTPF,” said Sheron Banks-Fallis, CTPF Member Services Manager. “Many of our members do not realize that their survivors may receive a death benefit from the fund. Filing a designation makes the payment of these benefits faster and more straightforward.”

CTPF Form 105 can be downloaded from www.ctpf.org. If you have not completed a designation, or if you have experienced a life event: marriage, civil union, birth, divorce, death, etc., please review your current designation and complete a new form, if necessary. Your designation must be notarized before you return it to CTPF. Please make a copy for your records and send CTPF the original signed and notarized form.

Signing a Designation
The only person who may sign and/or change a Designation of Beneficiary form is the CTPF member. A legal representative, including an appointed agent, guardian, conservator, trustee, or designated payee, cannot change or sign this form.
